The Republican Party and the Constitution.

We are among those who believe that the entire course of the Republican party, from the breaking out of the war down to the present time, is capable of a full and triumphant constitutional justification.

The Constitution assumes that a state of war may prevail. When it does prevail the laws and usages of war become constitutional. We are not so, it would be impossible to kill a public enemy in battle on our own soil, because the Constitution declares that no person shall "be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law."

If we advance a step further, and come down to the great question of reconstruction, we here find the Republican party still carrying out the express provisions of the Constitution. The overthrow of the Rebellion left the Southern States, in the language of President Johnson, "without civil government."

This brings us finally to the plan of reconstruction upon which Congress was bound by the Constitution to act. And here it is vitally important to note the change in the status of the late slaves caused by the abolition of slavery.

The slave was not regarded as a part of the political community. He was a chattel, a thing, a mere piece of property. He could not be taxed, for he could not hold property. He could not make a contract. He could hardly be said to commit a crime. If he were vicious or destructive, he might be proceeded against by law and deprived of his life; but it was on the same principle that a vicious horse or ox might be ordered to be destroyed.

Now, the abolition of slavery at once made the whole body of previous slaves members of the State. They were no longer things, but persons. They could now own property, make contracts, pay taxes, and exercise all the usual functions of citizens.

constitute a majority of all the citizens; on what possible ground could Congress have disfranchised the majority, and handed over the power to the minority? The thing is preposterous. It could not be done. In recognizing no distinctions among the people, Congress has adhered to the letter and spirit of the Constitution, and is reconstructing the South upon a constitutional no less than a republican basis.

From this brief review, it will be seen how firm and impregnable is the position occupied by the Republican party. Its whole record is luminous with devotion to the Constitution. Its course has been consistent and logical throughout. Grant the war to have been constitutional, and all the other steps follow in necessary succession.

Another Consolation Gone.

"We are perhaps even more gratified at another item of news than with those noticed above. viz. that General Sherman, Schofield, Meade, Hancock, and McDowell will command the Southern military districts. These officers, we believe, will preserve order and protect the communities under their authority with vigilance and fairness. There is not a fanatic among them. They are gentlemen and regular army officers, and from the experience of our people, they know how far preferable such officers are to political Generals."

—Alas for Southern hopes! Neither Sherman, Meade, Hancock, nor McDowell has been placed over them, but Sickles, Sheridan, and Thomas, every one of whom, we fear, are viewed by the Dispatch as "political Generals."

SENSELESS.—The best advice which has been tendered to the Southern people comes from the Atlanta Intelligencer, which says:—"Let our people go to work and leave politics and party alone! In industrial pursuits they will find individual prosperity; that will soon produce prosperity in the State; and general prosperity realized, political freedom will as surely follow as night does the day."

A STABLE GOVERNMENT.—An English statist has found that since 1821 Mexico has had twenty-three Presidents, seven Dictators, two Emperors, one Vice-President, and one Generalissimo, or an average of one ruler every six months. Maximilian has had a longer reign than any of them.

DR. WISHART.

WHAT IS DYSPEPSIA? DYSPEPSIA HAS THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

1st. A constant pain or uneasiness in the pit of the stomach.—Which is caused by a permanent contraction of the stomach upon undigested food. It generally begins immediately after a short time after eating; is often very severe and obstinate.

2d. Flatulence and Acidity.—These symptoms sufferer is afflicted with flatulence, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and of course gives no strength to the system.

3d. Costiveness and Loss of Appetite.—These symptoms are the effects of the unnatural condition of food in the stomach, and the want of a pure bile and gastric juice. The stomach is often painfully distended by wind; the appetite is sometimes voracious.

4th. Gloom and Depression of Spirits.—This patient is afflicted with flatulence, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and of course gives no strength to the system.

5th. Diarrhoea.—After being at first costive, the patient is afflicted with diarrhoea, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and of course gives no strength to the system.

6th. Pains in all Parts of the System.—Arise from the action of impure blood upon the nerves. They are chiefly in the head, sides, and breast, and in the extremities. In many cases there is an uneasiness in the throat, with a constant choking or suffocation; the mouth is often clammy, with a bad taste and furred tongue.

7th. Consumptive Symptoms and Palpitation of the Heart.—Many persons pronounced as having these diseases, have in reality only Dyspepsia, the lung and heart disease being only symptoms.

8th. Cough.—This is a very frequent symptom of Dyspepsia, and it leads very often into confirmed consumption.

9th. Want of Sleep.—A very distressing symptom, resulting from mental derangement.

10th. Symptoms of External Relation.—The patient is affected with itching of the skin, and the skin is often affected by eruptions and tetter. The gloomy dyspeptic avoids society as much as possible.

11th. Vomiting.—A frequent and distressing symptom. It relieves the pain, but evacuates and wears out the patient.

12th. Dizziness, dimness of vision, headache, and staggering in walking.—These are very alarming symptoms, which are speedily removed by our medicines; but if neglected are quickly followed by numbness and sudden death.

13th. It is impossible for us to give all the symptoms of Dyspepsia in so small a space, but the above are considered sufficient, if we add that the patient loses his memory and regard to surrounding objects, and frequently becomes morose and sour in disposition. We should say, however, that pains in the joints and stiffness of the limbs, which go by the name of rheumatism and neuralgia, are produced by Dyspepsia. Also, a hardness of the muscles of the abdomen, which becomes contracted and hard; and in some cases the belly sinks, instead of being gently prominent.

N. B.—Perhaps we have not said enough of that strongest symptom of Dyspepsia, melancholy. We have examined hundreds of cases of Dyspepsia, who were so much affected in their minds that they constantly forbore loss of their reason, which unfitted them for business of any kind, and many of them have been patients of the Insane Asylum, who are now permanently cured by our medicine.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent yearly, and hundreds and thousands of the best men and women of America linger in pain and die, and fill a premature grave, with that awful disease, Dyspepsia. They try this physician, and that physician, but alas! alas! no relief, no cure; and the next we hear of them they have gone "to that bourne from whence no traveller returns."

Out of the thousands of cases of Dyspepsia that have used Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and Pine Tree Tar Cordial, not one of them has failed of a perfect cure. We warrant a perfect cure in every case, no matter if it be twenty years' standing. Sold by all druggists everywhere, and at Dr. Wishart's Office, No. 10 North Second street, Philadelphia, Pa. All examinations and consultations free of charge. Send for a circular. Price of Pills, One Dollar per Box. Sent by mail, free of charge, on receipt of money.

DR. L. Q. C. WISHART'S PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL. A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES.

PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL. It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medicinal properties are retained.

It is the only safe and reliable remedy which has ever been prepared from the juice of the Pine Tree.

It invigorates the digestive organs, and restores the appetite. It purifies and enriches the blood, and expels from the system the corruption which scrofula breeds on the lungs.

It dissolves the mucus or phlegm which stops the air passages of the lungs. Its healing principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain and subduing inflammation.

It is the result of years of study and experiment, and it is offered to the afflicted with the positive assurance of its power to cure if the patient has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure.

CAUTION. Whereas, Base and designing men, regardless of the lives of the sick, and with a view solely to their own pockets, are making and vending a spurious article worse than useless—representing it as my Pine Tree Cordial, copying, in some cases, my labels and bottles, with slight variation to protect them from the law, the subscriber has been induced, as a protection to the public, to publish a few facsimile of his bottles as last patented by the United States Government, and hereby cautions all persons who value their health and life against purchasing any of the many preparations offered for sale as Pine Tree Cordial, unless my name and a Pine Tree is blown on the bottle; all others being a wicked imposition to deceive the suffering and fleece them of their money, regardless of consequences.

The genuine Pine Tree Tar Cordial is made by a process and of ingredients known only to myself, which secret has never been divulged; and any and all persons claiming to make my Pine Tree Tar Cordial are but vile impostors.
